Cave-in. Both were in Fox Valley on Monday clearing septic lines when disaster struck Jonathan Kohn and Mike Faryna had been inseparable since elementary school.

When Faryna's son Abel was born this past January, Kohn stepped up to help raise him.

Both had recently stood side by side to take part in the ALS Ice Bucket Challenge. A video posted online shows Abel watching with joy nearby.

"They'd been lifelong friends," recalled Jonathan's mother Linda Kohn in a phone interview Wednesday.

They even worked the same jobs. Both were in Fox Valley, about 40 kilometres east of the Alberta-Saskatchewan border, on Monday evening clearing septic lines when disaster struck.

"Michael went in — there was a cave-in — Jonathan went in to save his friend," Linda said. "That's my son ... he would do anything for anybody."

According to RCMP, emergency responders were able to pull Jonathan, 25, to the surface and rushed him to hospital, but he was pronounced dead on arrival.

Equipment supplied by a local farmer had to be used to recover the body of Faryna, 24.

Linda said her son actually introduced foster daughter and Abel's mother, Nicole Hole, to her family.

"It's that old saying that it takes a village to raise a child," she said. "My son didn't judge people ... he was fearless, so compassionate and loving. He always made sure everybody was OK."

Chilly night expected for many despite staff working at full tilt

Power outages. City crews to be supported by Canada Task Force 2 disaster response team

robson.fletcher@metronews.ca

Tens of thousands of Calgarians remained without electricity Wednesday afternoon, and many were expected to go without power overnight as the city grappled with thousands of downed trees and branches due to heavy, wet snow.

"The situation is very dynamic," said Gianna Manes, CEO of Enmax, the city-owned utility. "We are continuing to have additional outages at the same time as we are restoring power to locations."

Manes said it was impossible to know when power would be fully restored but said crews were working at full pace.

As of late Wednesday, 30,000 customers had no electricity.

"Many people in Calgary will be without power overnight," Manes said. "If you can comfortably stay in your home, make sure you have flashlights and batteries, make sure you have food and water. If you have the ability to go somewhere else, we're recommending that you do that."

According to 311 reports, more than 2,000 trees or large branches had fallen on roads across Calgary after 10 to 15 centimetres of wet snow accumulated on still-leafy branches.

City crews will be working with provincial forestry employees to deal with all the debris, said Mayor Naheed Nenshi.

"There will be night operations, so don't be alarmed if you hear chainsaws and other things going on in the evening," the mayor advised.

Their work will also be supported by a partial deployment of Canada Task Force 2 (CTF2), the Alberta division of the national all-hazards disaster response team.

More than 2,000 trees or large branches fell on city streets Wednesday, while many more fell in other areas, according to 311 reports. CANDICE WARD/FOR METRO

Schools tough out power outages, mishaps

William Reid School, seen here Wednesday evening, was among those schools dogged by prolonged power outages. CANDICE WARD/FOR METRO

Classes remained in session, but lights flickered off and on and many parents expressed confusion as a summer snowstorm pummeled the city Wednesday.

About 60 Calgary Board of Education (CBE) schools and more than 20 belonging to the Calgary Catholic School District saw some form of power outage, officials reported.

Dan McLeod brought his daughter to Louis Riel School in time for morning classes but found the lights were out and teachers were advising parents to take kids home.

He had no problem with turning back but got a tad frustrated when he received an email around noon notifying parents that "learning is still happening" at the school.

CBE area director Calvin Davies said the organization's 224 facilities remained open and many educators were making use of natural light filtering into classrooms. Flashlights were also made available.

He said some parents came to a school in his area after receiving texts from their kids falsely claiming the building was closed.

"Kids being kids, sometimes they look for opportunities to maybe find a way home," he said.

Catholic district spokesperson Sean Myers said many of the affected schools had power restored as of Wednesday afternoon. He too said all facilities remained open for

Status

As of 3:45 p.m., just 19 CBE schools remained without power. Buses were reportedly running mostly on schedule.

City cleanup is underway

Long haul. Collecting all the fallen trees and branches could take weeks, mayor notes

robson.fletcher@metronews.ca

With thousands of downed tree branches across Calgary, city officials urged residents to follow some basic rules when trying to dispose of them.

"Do not put your branches in your blue cart or your black cart," Mayor Naheed Nenshi said. The branches can not only damage the carts but also damage the collection vehicles.

Instead, he asked residents to tie the branches in bundles fewer than four feet in length

Safety

Only collect branches if it's safe to do so, Mayor Naheed Nenshi advised.

- Otherwise, call 311 or use the mobile app or online form to submit a request to the city.

and leave them next to where you normally leave your blue and black bins.

City crews will eventually pick them up, Nenshi said, although it may take days, possibly weeks. If you prefer to get rid of the branches sooner, you can also take them directly to a city landfill.

"We will, of course, be waiving any tipping fees," Nenshi said.

'Erosion over time.' ATA voices concern over inclusive education model

Just five years after it was first implemented, Alberta's inclusive education model has missed its mark, said the province's teachers Wednesday.

A new report commissioned by the Alberta Teachers' Association found flaws in inclusive education for the province as a result of a troubled implementation process.

"We found an erosion over time for supports for inclusion as complexity in the classroom continued to increase," said Marc Arnal, the chairperson for the Blue Ribbon Panel established to write the report.

Launched in 2009, inclusive education in the province was supported by the Setting the Direction Framework through Alberta Education. "Struggling alone and muddling through is just not the Alberta way," said Arnal, adding the panel has developed 38 recommendations for the government in order to correct the problems.

The recommendations include added support for teachers and professional development, along with establishing an advisory board at the provincial, district and school level to ensure inclusive education is being delivered.

"From our perspective and from teachers in the field, it's the implementation that becomes paramount, because what happens in the classroom directly affects students obviously and that's where our concern (should) be focused," said ATA president Mark Ramsankar. "Time is of the essence."

Edmonton parent Karin Woodard said without the proper resources, having students with varying learning abilities in one classroom can have a negative impact on all students.

Secondary suite 'matrix' approval process rejected

'Clear message.'

Councillor says proposal effectively gave blanket approval, something he couldn't support

Members of city council often complain about Calgary's painstaking, piece-by-piece approval process for secondary suites, but on Wednesday many rejected an alternative method proposed by city planners.

Rollin Stanley, the city's general manager of planning and development, pitched an idea that would see city staff evaluate secondary suites based on a "matrix" of criteria.

The exact details would have to be worked out, but Stanley said the process could be streamlined from its current incarnation, which sees secondary-suite applications come to council, one-by-one, dragging the meetings on for hours, if not days.

Coun. Diane Colley-Urquhart METRO FILE

Stanley wanted councillors' approval to develop a framework and bring back a detailed report next spring. But a city committee rejected that idea by a 4-4 vote. (Ties count as defeats.)

Coun. Richard Pootmans said the proposal effectively amounted to a blanket approval of secondary suites city-wide, something he couldn't support.

Residents in his ward have given him a "clear message," Pootmans said, one of "overwhelming resistance to putting secondary suites into their communities."

Coun. Diane Colley-Urquhart, who has opposed secondary suite applications in the past, said she's come to understand that many of the oft-cited concerns with them — such as problems with parking and overcrowding — aren't actually supported by available evidence. She supported the "matrix" idea and handing off the approval process to city staff.

"We can't continue to have these one-offs coming to council," she said. "We just can't. It's not working."

More universities mull tuition hike

Three others.

University of Calgary already intends to lobby for increased fees in 3 programs

Comments from three post-secondary institutions in Calgary Wednesday indicate that University of Calgary students may not be the only ones facing steeper tuition bills.

At Bow Valley College, three programs in the nursing and allied health area are being considered for cost hikes, but vice-president of learning services Anna Kae Todd said in an email that no decision would be finalized until "further investigation and student consultation" was done. Both SAIT Polytechnic and Mount

Mount Royal University president David Docherty METRO FILE

Royal University also said they were considering pitching the province on one-time market-modifier tuition hikes but didn't identify specific programs that could be affected.

"It's still early in the process and we need to consult with our stakeholders before making a submission, and key among these stakeholders is our students," said David Docherty, Mount Royal's president, in a statement. He said he met with the deputy advanced education minister last week to discuss proposal parameters.

The province has informed schools they have until Oct. 15 to submit proposals for the one-time hikes, which are generally steeper than the legislated annual tuition rises tied to the rate of inflation.

At the University of Alberta, for example, the law program could be in line for a 58 per cent hike. U of C provost Dru Marshall also informed students Tuesday that market-modifier proposals were being planned for the institution's law, engineering and business administration programs, but said it was too early to specify the exact amount of the hikes being sought.

Beverly Eastham, executive director of the Council of Alberta University Students, said she fears proposals will be submitted by many more schools than during the last round of market-modifier discussions in 2010.

USED CARS TO BE SOLD FOR $1

Carl Holst, Sales Manager of Stampede Toyota, just announced plans to hold a One dollar used car and truck sales event Taking place, Saturday Sept 13, 2014. According to Mr. Holst record sales from the last few months have resulted in an overstock of trade-ins. "In the last three months our sales have increased at a tremendous rate", Holst said. "Now, we must reduce the number of cars and trucks on our used lot to a more manageable number. During this $1 sale every used car and truck will be sold for hundreds or thousands below its original price." Mr. Holst said. "In fact, cars that normally sell for five to eight thousand dollars will be sold for three to five thousand," Mr. Holst said. "Our customers will find these prices even lower than at wholesale auctions."

Auction bidding often inflates the true value of a car so you pay more. Here every car is on sale, first come first served and no bidding. It's the perfect opportunity to get a good quality used car at the lowest price possible, including cars for only One dollar. All cars will be on display at Stampede Toyota on Barlow Trail, 2 blocks North of the Trans Canada Highway. At 8:00 am all vehicles will be opened so that buyers may inspect the vehicles for one hour before the sale begins at 9:00am when the prices are posted on the windshield you will be given the first opportunity to purchase the vehicle at the sale price. This innovative approach to selling used vehicles will make it easy and quick for anybody in the market for a good used vehicle to get a great car or truck at a very low price with no hassle.

One of Calgary's largest Toyota certified used vehicle dealers is overstocked and is forced to sell used cars and trucks for as low as $1, Saturday Sept 13, 2014 during a one-day sale event.

"Wholesale buyers will be represented to take trade-ins during the sale," Mr. Holst said. "We also have three business managers who will help buyers arrange low-cost financing. We've got over $10 Million Dollars in inventory to choose from. Our total inventory will be close to 600 new and used cars and trucks. We want to remind everyone that this is a one-day sale only. When our inventory has been reduced, we will remove the sale prices and return to normal operations. Since we are a local business we would like to give back to the community," Mr. Holst said. "We would rather allow local people to buy these overstocked vehicles than wholesale them at an auction." All cars will be reduced every hour and there will be 8 cars that will be reduced every hour until they get to $1. These special $1 sale cars are in a separate section at the front of the dealership. Due to the volume of sales during this event, please no telephone inquiries.

Russia building new nukes: Putin

Russia is developing an array of new nuclear and conventional weapons to counter moves by the U.S. and NATO, but will carefully weigh the costs to avoid overburdening its economy, President Vladimir Putin said Wednesday.

Putin told a Kremlin meeting on weapons modernization plans that the West shouldn't be surprised about Moscow's efforts in view of U.S. missile defence plans and other decisions he said have threatened Russia's security.

"We have warned many times that we would have to take corresponding counter-measures to ensure our security," Putin said, adding that he would now take personal charge of the government commission that oversees military industries.

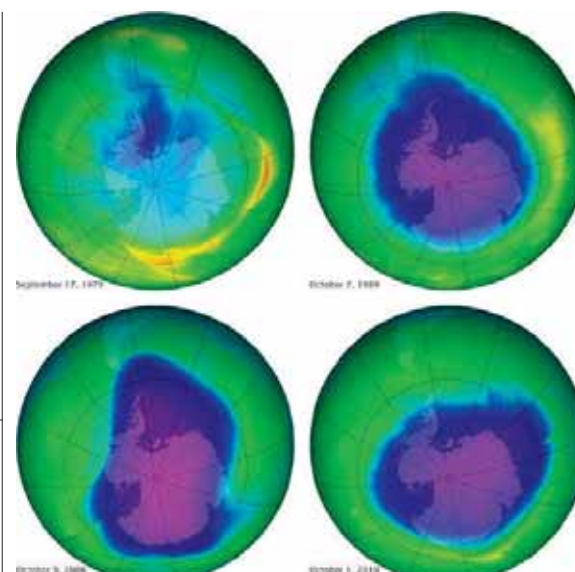

He said the weapons modernization program for 2016 to 2025 should focus on building a new array of offensive weapons to provide a "guaranteed nuclear deterrent," re-arming strategic and long-range aviation, creating an aerospace defence system and developing high-precision conventional weapons.

Putin and other officials have repeatedly boasted about new Russian nuclear missiles' capability to penetrate any prospective missile shield. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Earth's protective but fragile ozone layer is finally starting to rebound, says a United Nations panel of scientists. COURTESY NASA/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ozone layer recovering: Scientists

But far from healed.

Protective layer still about 6 per cent thinner than in 1980

Earth's protective but fragile ozone layer is beginning to recover, largely because of the phase-out since the 1980s of certain chemicals used in refrigerants and aerosol cans, a UN scientific panel reported Wednesday in a rare piece of good news about the health of the planet.

Scientists said the development demonstrates that when the world comes together, it can counteract a brewing ecological crisis.

For the first time in 35 years, scientists were able to confirm a statistically significant and sustained increase in stratospheric ozone, which shields us from solar radiation that causes skin cancer, crop damage and other problems. From 2000 to 2013, ozone levels went up four per cent in the key mid-northern latitudes at about 50 kilometres high, said NASA scientist Paul A. Newman. He co-chaired the every-four-years ozone assessment by 300 scientists, released at the United Nations.

The UN calculated in an earlier report that without the 1987 pact that phased out CFCs, by 2030 there would have been an extra two million skin cancer cases a year around the world.

The ozone layer is still far from healed. The long-lasting, ozone-eating chemicals still lingering in the atmosphere create a yearly fall ozone hole above the extreme Southern Hemisphere, and the hole hasn't closed up.

Landlord must be stopped, MLA says

'Greed eviction' landlord. Evictions, illegal rent increases and laundry costs cited as grounds for action

Imagine paying $13.50 for a load of laundry or being served an eviction notice because your spouse is an illegal tenant.

That's what residents of a downtown Vancouver apartment have been dealing with ever since their building fell under new ownership in August, and yesterday they were joined by their local MLA to demand the "abuse" stop.

Residents of Hofmann Manor allege they've been threatened by Plan A Real Estate Services Ltd. with an illegal 30 per cent rent increase, unlawful inspections, and eviction notices for alleged breaches of material terms.

"Almost every day there is a new notice posted to our door," said Absalon Figueroa, who received three eviction notices in one week. Fellow tenant Brandi Ross claims the residents have been offered new short-term leases with non-negotiable end-of-term clauses to vacate.

Vancouver-West End MLA Spencer Chandra Herbert has vowed to help the residents fight their landlord at the Residential Tenancy Branch.

"What this is a greed eviction," said Chandra Herbert, accusing the landlord of trying to turn the building into "a kind of Airbnb mini-hotel" to maximize profits.

Plan A was served legal notice by the city Sept. 3 after being found to be illegally renting units in the building out for less than 30 days, through the popular online peer-to-peer accommodation website Airbnb.

After several attempts to contact the landlord, Plan A Real Estate Services claimed its director, Anoop Majithia, was out of the country and not available for interviews.

Ottawa man denied citizenship bid says he will appeal court's ruling

An Ottawa man says he will appeal after losing a court battle for his Canadian citizenship.

Despite being born in Canada, Deepan Budlakoti was suddenly told by federal officials four years ago that he is not a Canadian citizen despite also possessing a birth certificate and a Canadian passport,

The government argues Budlakoti did not automatically become a Canadian at birth in October 1989, as his parents were employed by the Indian high commissioner.

Budlakoti, 24, was ordered out of Canada three years ago due to drug and firearms convictions.

Federal Court Justice Michael Phelan was not convinced by Budlakoti's argument that his parents quit the Indian High Commission in June 1989, months before he was born.

"That employment terminated at some point in 1989 — the exact date is hotly contested and the facts in this record are difficult to make out,"

Phelan said in his statement.

Budlakoti called the ruling "shocking and deplorable."

"Obviously, I will appeal," said Budlakoti, who considers himself stateless. "I refuse to be exiled from my homeland, to be made an outcast in my own society. It sets a precedent that we should all be worried about." THE CANADIAN PRESS

U.S. to lead coalition in attacking ISIS: Obama

Prime-time TV address. President pledges to engage Islamic rebels via multi-country coalition and U.S. airstrikes

In a dramatic shift, U.S. President Barack Obama has opened a new front in the fight against Islamic rebels, promising to lead an international coalition that will attack them on Syrian turf.

He used a rare prime-time speech to lay out a program that would have been unthinkable until recently: a multi-country fight in the Middle East, involving American airstrikes and special forces in Iraq and now Syria, as part of a broad counter-terrorism plan.

"We will degrade, and ultimately destroy, ISIL through a comprehensive and sustained counter-terrorism strategy," Obama said, referring to the militant group also known as ISIS.

"We will hunt down terrorists who threaten our country wherever they are. That means I will not hesitate to take action against ISIL in Syria, as well as Iraq. This is a core principle of my presidency: If you threaten America, you will find no safe haven."

Obama carefully avoided calling it a war.

He added a familiar caveat, promising once again that combat troops won't be going back in: "We will not get dragged into another ground war in Iraq."

Canada is among the countries involved in the Iraq mission, but the federal government quickly shot down the idea of participating in Syria.

Late Wednesday, a spokesman for Prime Minister Stephen Harper said Canada was committed to addressing this "barbaric terrorist threat," with humanitarian aid and military advisers in Iraq, but said the commitment would be re-evaluated after 30 days and would not expand to Syria.

Wednesday's speech was the latest step down an improbable path for a presidency that sprang from an anti-war platform and received a Nobel Peace Prize in its infancy.

The catalyst appeared to be brutal images from the Islamic rebellion that has gobbled up territory in eastern Syria and western Iraq, notably two videos of American journalists being beheaded.

Suicide. Segregated inmates at risk: Report

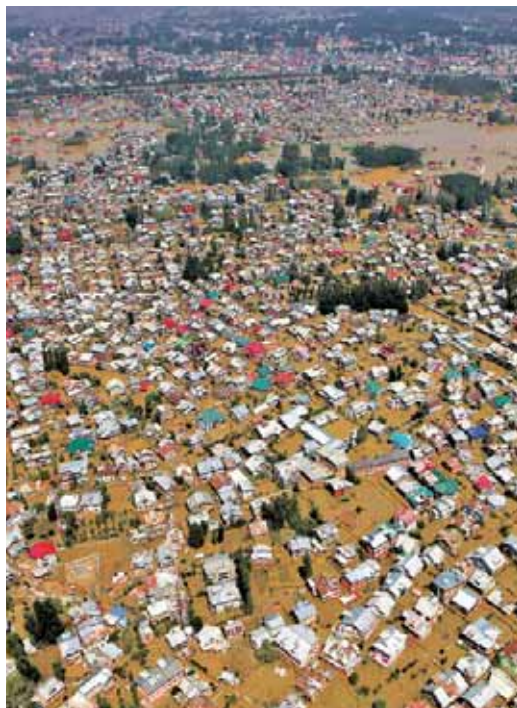

The federal prison watchdog says Corrections Canada must stop isolating mentally ill, suicidal or self-harming prisoners, saying inmates in segregation units are all too easily able to kill themselves.

In a scathing report released on World Suicide Prevention Day, Howard Sapers says almost half of the suicides reviewed by the Office of the Correctional Investigator took place in segregation cells supposedly under close monitoring.

Sapers' office examined 30 suicides in penitentiaries between April 2011 and March 2014.

Twenty-five of those prisoners hanged themselves, 14 of them while they were in solitary confinement. Nineteen of the prisoners who hanged themselves had previously attempted suicide; seven had tried to kill themselves more than twice.

Rob Ford hospitalized after tumour diagnosis

Toronto. Controversial mayor, who is running for re-election, said to be in 'good spirits' after seeking treatment for 'unbearable' pain

Toronto Mayor Rob Ford was diagnosed with a tumour on Wednesday after seeking treatment hours earlier for "unbearable" abdominal pain.

The CEO of the Humber River Hospital told reporters the mayor has dealt with abdominal pains for more than three months.

"He was having left-lower-quadrant abdominal pain.... It's been going on for more than three months but today it became unbearable for him," Dr. Rueben Devlin said at a hastily called press conference Wednesday evening.

"Examination and investigation today revealed that he has a tumour. The mayor has been admitted to Humber River Hospital to allow for further investigation to obtain a definitive diagnosis."

Ford's brother, Coun. Doug Ford, said the mayor was coping well.

"He's in good spirits and just thanks everyone for all the well-wishes," the older Ford said, adding that his brother hadn't complained of his abdominal pain to him in the past.

"He had stomach pain, I had breakfast with him today ... and he said his stomach was bothering him. He went to the doctor's and then the doctor sent him over to Humber and we're here today."

The mayor will be kept in hospital over the next few days as tests are conducted to determine more details about the tumour, Devlin said, adding that it was a CT scan that brought physicians to their early diagnosis.

"He's being investigated further and we need to determine exactly what type of tumour it is and then we can decide on what treatment is required," Devlin said.

A tumour is a mass, a growth of abnormal cells. Some are benign, meaning they are not cancerous, while others are malignant or cancerous.

Benign tumours typically are localized; malignant tumours can spread or metastasize, triggering secondary cancers in other parts of the body.

Rob Ford is running for re-election in the city's Oct. 27 municipal vote. His brother wouldn't comment on how the tumour diagnosis might impact his campaign.

Detroit bankruptcy trial on hold, for now

A judge has suspended Detroit's bankruptcy trial until next week to give lawyers time to work out the details of a settlement that would satisfy a major creditor that

Changes to TV would hurt consumers?

CRTC hearings.

Ma Bell claims proposed changes would harm broadcasting industry, as well as customers

Consumers will get less and pay more, and jobs will be lost, under proposals being debated this week to modernize television program delivery, the country's broadcast regulator has been told.

A throng of frustrated media executives warned of dire times ahead for Canada's TV world Wednesday as the Canadian Radio-television and Telecommunications Commission held a third day of hearings on how Canadians get and pay for TV programming.

The CRTC has proposed new regulations that would,

Quoted

"There is no evidence of dissatisfaction with existing basic packages.... More intrusive unbundling regulation would actually limit competitive differentiation."

Bell Canada and BCE Inc. executive vice-president Mirko Bibic told the hearing

if enacted, bar TV stations from replacing U.S. advertising with Canadian spots on American shows.

The regulator has also proposed that consumers be allowed to pick the individual channels they want from cable and satellite service providers, over and above a price-capped, trimmed-down mandatory service that includes mainly local channels. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Scotland independence vote. The fate of the British pound hangs in the balance

In for a penny, in for a pound. There'll be no going back if Scotland votes for independence from the United Kingdom on Sept. 18.

Opinion polls showing that may happen have prompted investors to sell off the British pound. If a knockout blow is dealt to Scotland's 307-year union with England, that selling could accelerate as the U.K. plunges into a constitutional crisis.

The fate of the pound, which is also known as sterling and is one of the most tangible links of the union, will be front and centre in any separation proceedings, as it has been during the campaign.

The nationalists, led by Scotland's First Minister Alex Salmond, hope Scotland will still use the pound through a currency union with what's left of the U.K. — Wales, Northern Ireland and England. The main British political parties, notably the Conservatives and Labour, say that's not going to happen.

LIFE IN THE VACUUM-SEALED TUBE

Like so many other children, I spent my youth dreaming of a long transparent tube.

Specifically, I imagined a human-sized, vacuum-sealed tube that would extend from my front door and guide me around the world — through jungles and mountains and to cities more exotic than anything a New Brunswick boy could imagine. Shanghai, say. Or Saskatoon.

I'd be able to see the world's wonders, all within the safety of The Tube, which would proceed in a straight line — except for a slight adjustment to align with my back door.

The Tube was such a persistent daydream for me as a child that when Google Earth was released I checked to see where the route would have taken me.

It was barren rock, empty desert and ocean, save for a trip through Hiroshima's ground zero. The Tube makes you think.

I'm reminiscing about it because I've decided to share a secret revelation with you, against my better judgment: The Tube

HE SAYS
John Mazerolle
metronews.ca

exists. Shhhhhh ...

Okay, so there's no physical tubing. But everything The Tube provided in my imagination actually exists in today's world. Despite how world news leaves us feeling, most of the planet is safe, comfortable and there to explore.

It's a secret I don't like to share. I was recently in Malaysian Borneo, and distant tropical islands are much better for my DEET cred if you think they sound mysterious and dangerous.

My father, for one, always sounds surprised when I get back home from trips alive.

"So you made it, huh?" he says with the same "How 'bout that?!" tone you might have if you dropped a wristwatch in the tub and it kept working.

But the truth is, Borneo is comfortable, friendly, clean. Most of the planet is comfortable, friendly and clean. If you heard the phrase "Dr. Livingstone, I presume," you could bet it's because the barista wants to know what he should write on your latte.

Starbucks is, in fact, the first thing I saw when I arrived in Borneo, even before customs. And the only thing I encountered more often than wide smiles and lush greenery was KFC. ("Authentic Bangkok flavour!" the signs informed me.)

It's not just the persistence of corporations that makes distant travel more familiar than one might imagine. I had a mountain guide for a climb, and years of TV had me assuming he'd be old, wizened and weather-worn, explaining the mountain spirits and medicinal properties of the foliage.

Instead, he was a 20-something dude in a tank top, smoking a cigarette and checking his phone every time it got that damned alert that sounds like a person whistling. As for my phone, I got a strong, clear signal three-quarters of the way up the mountain, and later when I was 100 kilometres down a jungle river.

I talked to my mother during one call, in a conversation that revealed the secret to her: I was eating and she asked what I was munching on, assuming it was insects or something. It was Pringles. The vacuum-sealed tube is real.

It's the thrill of the fight

Artists, their bodies painted in the likeness of tigers, perform the annual Pulikali in Thrissur, in the southern Indian state of Kerala, Wednesday. ### Artists transformed into big cats for Indian harvest festival

Two-hundred-odd years ago, the Pulikali tradition started and every harvest season it returns to the Indian state of Kerala for Onam — the annual harvest festival.

During Onam, performers are transformed into tigers and hunters in bright yellow, red and black paints made from tempera and enamel. They dance to the beats of instruments, mimicking tiger hunts and tigers stalking their prey.

As with most traditions, there have been changes over time. In the early days, dancers would paint themselves all over, but over the years masks were introduced, in addition to tiger teeth, tongues, beards and mustaches. METRO

Etymology

Pulikali

Puli = leopard/tiger and kali = play in Malayalam, a language spoken in India, primarily in the state of Kerala.

Yes! There's an order to Mraz's album about love

Tried-and-true style.

Singer penned latest sticky-sweet album with female folk rock act Raining Jane

Metro World News in New York

At this point, 12 years into his career as a coffeehouse-turned-arena playing singer-songwriter, Jason Mraz knows what works. He gets that his fans want a mellow, light-rock album full of sticky-sweet love songs. So, when it comes time to record a new album, he doesn't feel the pressure to reinvent himself.

"I honestly feel that I've made the same record every time," he tells us. That being said, his latest album, Yes!, a complete collaboration with the all-female folk rock band Raining Jane, wasn't planned at all. Mraz and Raining Jane have been meeting up to write songs twice a year for the past seven years. "We had no agenda other than just meeting up to write and have fun," Mraz says. Some of the songs ended up on some of Mraz's past albums, while

More Mraz

- About all those I'm Yours YouTube covers. "It's always an honour as a songwriter to see another musician take the effort to play your songs and embody the words. My favourite I'm Yours cover that I saw was the little itchy nose kid playing the ukelele. He's just sitting in his closet playing the uke and his nose is itching. He even played the diminished chord which not a lot of people do!"

others became hits for other singers, such as John Mayer. After a few particularly rewarding sessions in 2013, Mraz liked the songs so much, he decided to bundle them up into one album, that being the newly released, Yes!

"It was a happy accident," he says. "We didn't actually know we were writing an album. I think that would have sounded a lot different had we sat around thinking, 'OK, this has to be on the record.'"

Even in an age where people often download songs one single at a time, Mraz is obsessed with the order in which the songs occur on the album and says it's something he thinks about constantly. In his opinion, every album should tell a story, and each song is a fragment of that story. Not surprisingly, the songs on Yes! tell a love story. It starts out recognizing that you do love someone; that love is there. "There's a little heartbreak and discomfort, and we just have to accept what's meant to be. There's compassion in the love story. There's forgiveness. There's acceptance. And the resolve is contentment, which is used to shine on."

Though Mraz is busy touring, he's already writing new songs. "The best material is always the stuff that needs to be written," he says.

"It's the stuff that comes out of emotion, passion and the need to express or interpret something; to hear it back happening." From the sound of it, there's no shortage of love stories left to tell.

Nicki Minaj GETTY IMAGES

Nicki goes au naturel

Nicki Minaj, who has recently dropped her colourful and oddball style for a more natural and sophisticated look, says it's because she's more comfortable in her skin. "I kind of feel now that I look more like my regular old self, like what I look like when I'm at home," she said in an interview Tuesday. "I think there's just a little bit more confidence and so I'm like, 'It is what it is. I am who I am. I look like what I look like.' I don't really have to change much of it anymore."

Minaj's new look includes her natural black hair colour versus the wild and bright wigs she's worn that helped establish her name in pop culture. At the Fashion Rocks concert Tuesday in Brooklyn, New York, where the rapper performed, she wore a blazer and skirt that came off like a little black dress.

"I just thought it was really, really sexy, but without being tight," she said. "I thought it was different for me."

Onstage, Minaj wore less when performing her rump-shaking hit Anaconda, which has peaked at No. 2 on the Billboard Hot 100 chart.

Perry has a swift response to Taylor's Bad Blood diss

Suspiciously soon after news spread of Taylor Swift's explanation that her track Bad Blood was about a pop contemporary she thought she could trust, Katy Perry took to Twitter with a Mean Girls reference: "Watch out

Gwen emails her hubby a pic of pregnancy stick

Because of her busy schedule, Gwen Stefani had to inform husband Gavin Rossdale via email that she was pregnant with their third child, Rossdale reveals to Howard Stern.

"I got this email on the road, from Gwen, and the title was in capitals, 'Look what you did to me now,'" he says. "I was like, 'What is this?' My blood pressure went through the roof. And I opened the email, and it was the pregnancy stick."

The couple's third son, Apollo, was born last February.

Bieber's boxers fail to impress fashion fans

THE WORD
Dorothy Robinson
scene@metronews.ca

These days, it's a surprise to wake up and not find a surprising story about Justin Bieber.

The latest incident involves Canada's boy king receiving a less-than-friendly reception at the Fashion Rocks event in New York earlier this week, and responding by stripping down to his underwear in some bizarre misapplication of the fight or flight instinct.

Bieber was introducing singer Rita Ora alongside model Lara Stone when the crowd turned on him and he responded by bearing nearly all.

"Is that better?" he asked.

Justin, if you have to ask ...

Pharrell Williams

Pharrell's happy little idea a huge hit across the U.K.

This ought to make him happy: Pharrell Williams' ubiquitous pop hit, Happy, has officially become the most downloaded song of all time in the U.K., according to the Guardian.

"The people of the U.K. have been so supportive of me over the years," Williams says. "That's the lifeline. Without them, you're just a musician with a couple of ideas. But with them, that is the thing that changes everything when they get involved, your little idea can become something."

Yes, something a lot of people will download.

Cara's little piggies went to the market for bacon

Cara Delevingne's love of bacon apparently outweighs her aversion to horrific pain.

The model revealed a new tattoo dedicated to the most delicious food ever ... on the bottom of her foot.

Delevingne posted an Instagram photo of the new tat, along with the caption "It happened" — which, come to think of it, could be the caption for every post on Instagram.

The tattoo, by the way, is just the word bacon with an ellipsis after. I do love me some good, well-placed punctuation, so good on you, Cara.

Keep your eyes on Baraschi

Before launching her own label, Romanian-born Yoana Baraschi earned her fashion keep designing for Faconable, Cacharel, Mugler and Betsey Johnson. We chatted with Baraschi over breakfast and got her tips on how even the most colourphobic New Yorker can brighten up her wardrobe for spring:

Who is the Yoana Baraschi woman? Who do you design for?

I design for a woman who doesn't like to be defined by her age or her work. She's independent, unique, strong and bold. She likes to put things together her own way and likes to feel special when she's getting dressed.

What tips do you have for woman who want to try wearing more colours or prints?

Wearing it with black helps. It makes it less bold, so if you aren't used to wearing colour or prints, that's a good place to start. So if you have a black bandeau or black mesh pants, or even just black sandals, that can help you feel less lost.

paper or Kleenex. For small metallic items like scissors or nail clippers, stick a magnetic strip inside your medicine cabinet or a small area where you can hang them.

Hang a rod on the inside of a closet door. It will keep you organized and give you a place to hang smaller items like scarves or ties. Pegs and hooks are also a good option to put up on the wall, especially for heavier items like sweaters and jackets. If you don't have a closet, find spaces in your home that are unused or take advantage of wall space, even extremely small spaces can be useful.

Use storage containers to organize small and miscellaneous objects — store them under pieces of furniture like your bed — this is especially useful for shoes. A variety of shoe racks are also available in many different shapes and sizes. Remember that every area of the room can be utilized; even the corners can be used to mount shelves.

Shelves are a great thing to have in every washroom — they are easy to install and can fit anywhere. Mount one above your sink to give you extra counter space and have easy access to things you use on a daily basis. Above the door is also a great place to have a shelf to store excess items like toilet

The right paint colour

Grey-based colours are better for those who like to wake to an all-dark room whereas yellow-based colours are for those that welcome the sunshine in the morning. The perfect fall bedroom colour is the mix of grey and gold: for example, Benjamin Moore's Old Soul CSP-65, BenjaminMoore.ca

The most comfortable bedding

Some like smooth sateen, some like the texture of linen while others like the cosiness of cotton flannel. Polka Dot Flannel Sheets, from $25, Simons.ca

The perfect pillow

A pet bed

A stylish pet bed will help make sure everyone has their own place for a good night's rest. Danazoo Extra Large Dog Bed, $60, Walmart.ca

Proper lighting

Are you a night reader? Save space on your night table and hang a light fixture that lets you control the light. Lite Source Rhine Wall Lamp, $170, BedBathAndBeyond.ca

Light control

Blackout drapes can make a room pitch black — perfect for shift workers or those that just hate waking up to sunlight. Mirage Blackout Curtain, $45, Bouclair.com

Sunseri prepared to take over for Durant

Roughriders. QB insists he has been approaching each game as though he were the starter

Tino Sunseri has a lot more homework to do these days.

The Saskatchewan Roughriders' backup quarterback has been thrust into the starter's role thanks to a season-ending injury to Darian Durant.

Sunseri is expected to get his first CFL start on Sunday in Hamilton when the Riders take on the Tiger-Cats.

"When you're a kid growing up, you want to play pro football and you want to start games and you want to try and put your team in a position to win games," Sunseri said after the team's practice on Wednesday.

"This doesn't really change from the way our quarterback room is, though. From the beginning of the year we have all been coming in and preparing as if we were the starter, making sure that we could help out whoever it was that was playing."

All in the family

It appears as though Tino Sunseri has football in his blood.

- Sal Sunseri, Tino's father, was drafted by the Pittsburgh Steelers in the 1982 NFL draft and later coached with the Carolina Panthers for six seasons. He is now the defensive line coach with the Florida State Seminoles.

- Tino's brother Vinnie Sunseri, is a defensive back in his rookie season with the NFL's New Orleans Saints.

Sunseri added that whether he's the backup or the starter, his preparation doesn't change drastically. He'll still put in his hours studying game film, he'll download video to his iPad and scour it a little more when he gets home at the end of the day. He'll meet with offensive co-ordinator George Cortez and fellow quarterback Seth Doege, and they'll talk about what they plan to call in certain game situations.

"I'm going to make sure

Tino Sunseri assumes the role of starting quarterback for the Roughriders in Darian Durant's absence. ANDRE RINGUETTE/FREESTYLE PHOTOGRAPHY/GETTY IMAGES

I'm in here studying as much as I can, making sure I'm putting in the extra work and making sure that everybody has that faith in me so that whenever we step on the field that we're going to be competitive and our offence is able to put points on the board," Sunseri said. THE CANADIAN PRESS

'A joke.' Argos players hot about training facilities

Coach Scott Milanovich and the Argos will have just missed frigid temperatures when they arrive for a tilt with the Stampede Saturday. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE FILE

The two major snowstorms that hit Calgary this week made for some lighthearted banter at the Argos' practice on Wednesday.

Guess where the team is heading Thursday? Snow-blown Calgary for a game against the best team in the CFL on Saturday.

Coach Scott Milanovich has been checking weather reports, and it appears there will be no need for winter football wear come game day, when it's expected to be 13 C.

"I talked to the players this morning, but from what I've heard it's just going to be cool, not the snow or the mess," Milanovich said after practice.

Although Toronto is considerably warmer, there was a lingering chill in the air after unnamed players complained to TSN reporter Matthew Scianitti on the weekend about the team's training facilities.

"The whole thing is a joke," one veteran player was quoted as saying.

Argos GM Jim Barker said he understood the frustration amid delays to the opening of a new facility at Downsview Park, leaving the team scrambling.

"The month of August was difficult," Barker said, adding it was nobody's fault. "The players grow weary of it, not knowing where they're going to practise.... They were just speaking the truth. But we told them, it is what it is. Don't whine about it."

The Argos will stay in Calgary next week before flying to Vancouver for a game against the B.C. Lions on Friday, Sept. 19. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

QB switcheroo

Glenn again to the rescue for Lions

Kevin Glenn does not buy into the notion that the B.C. Lions are Travis Lulay's team.

A week after being displaced by a then-healthy Lulay as the CFL club's starting quarterback, Glenn is back in the rescuer role that he has played most of the season as the Lions prepare to host the Winnipeg Blue Bombers on Saturday. He is ignoring the fact that, in the lead-up to an ugly 7-5 victory in Ottawa, Lions players stressed that B.C. was Lulay's team.

In essence, the message was that Lulay, the 2011 CFL most outstanding player and Grey Cup MVP, had resumed his position as B.C.'s (6-4) field general before he made his first 2014 start only to be sidelined with a shoulder injury similar to the one that forced him to miss most of the season. But Glenn does not view that claim as a slap in the face.

"No one guy wins a game and no one guy goes out there by himself with the uniform on and plays against another team," said Glenn after a practice Wednesday. "We all put the B.C. Lions logo on. We're all playing for this team, so we're all going to have a significant part in making this team move in a positive direction."

Glenn has completed 161 of 256 passes for 2,151 yards this season while his nine touchdown tosses are two short of his interception total (11).

Ravens-Steelers rivalry resumes amid Rice storm

NFL. Ravens-Steelers prime-time clash overshadowed by RB Rice's suspension

Four days after opening the season by losing to a division foe at home, the Baltimore Ravens face their most-hated rival in a pivotal game Thursday night.

The matchup against the Pittsburgh Steelers couldn't come soon enough for the Ravens, who finally get to play in the wake of the media firestorm involving Ray Rice.

Following Sunday's 23-16 defeat against Cincinnati, Baltimore had not yet launched its short workweek when a video surfaced showing Rice hitting his then-fiancée in an elevator last February. The incident previously led the NFL to suspend the running back for two games, but the graphic video prompted the Ravens to release Rice and the NFL to suspend him indefinitely.

From that point, coach John Harbaugh and his players were bombarded with more questions about Rice than the importance of avoiding an 0-2 start with two home losses against AFC North opponents.

"It's been a trying time," metro AR Ravens quarterback Joe Flacco, far right, is under pressure to get the Baltimore offense going without suspended running back Ray Rice Thursday night against Pittsburgh. Scan the photo for a gallery of news and notes from around the NFL. ROB CARR/GETTY IMAGES wide receiver Steve Smith said. "You have to compartmentalize to some part, because if you don't, this is a game that is physical and you can get hurt if your mind is not clear and focused on what you have to do."

Under different circumstances, the Ravens (0-1) and Steelers (1-0) would be asked about the intensity of a rivalry in which 10 of the last 12 games have been decided by three points or fewer. Maybe everyone would be talking about Pittsburgh's second-half collapse against Cleveland last week.

Instead, the topic of conversation was a running back who wasn't supposed to play in this game anyway.

The first question posed to Pittsburgh quarterback Ben Roethlisberger in a conference call involved his thoughts on Rice. He dutifully answered before quickly shifting gears.

"We pray for him and his family," Roethlisberger told the Baltimore media. "The biggest focus is the game on Thursday.... That is what we can control." THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Basketball World Cup

France pulls surprising upset over hosts Spain

France upset Spain 65-52 in front of its stunned fans in the quarter-finals of the Basketball World Cup on Wednesday.

After dominating its first six games and blowing out France by 24 points in the group phase, Spain appeared to be the main candidate to dethrone the United States in a possible final that would have been a rematch of the past two Olympic gold-medal games.

Upswing. Jays sweep Cubs, win fourth straight

Right-hander Drew Hutchison equalled his career best with 10 strikeouts and the Toronto Blue Jays completed a three-game sweep of the Chicago Cubs on Wednesday with an 11-1 victory.

It was the fourth win in a row for the Blue Jays (76-69) and the sixth straight loss for the Cubs (64-82).

Hutchison (10-11) allowed four hits and one run, on a homer by Jorge Soler, over 6 1/3 innings. His other 10 strikeout game was July 1 against the Milwaukee Brewers, also at Rogers Centre.

Horoscopes by Sally Brompton

♈ Aries

March 21 - April 20

Work and relationship issues have placed a strain on your nerves recently but now you can see a way past your problems. A difficult phase is almost over. Learn from it.

♉ Taurus

April 21 - May 21

Whatever difficulties you face, don't try to blame other people for them. The more you deny that you are responsible, the worse things are likely to get.

♊ Gemini

May 22 - June 21

Your physical and emotional reserves are likely to be a bit depleted, so take it easy today and tomorrow. There are a number of ways you can improve your health.

♋ Cancer

June 22 - July 23

This is generally a positive time for you but don't take too much on trust or you may miss out on a golden opportunity.

♌ Leo

July 24 - Aug. 23

It may seem as if everyone else has been having fun while you've been stuck at home or at work but don't sweat it. Your turn will come — and soon.

♍ Virgo

Aug. 24 - Sept. 23

Today's Sun-Saturn link means you don't have to be assertive, you just have to know what you are doing. Most people fail because they don't have a clearly defined goal, so work out what it is you most desire.

♎ Libra

Sept. 24 - Oct. 23

The most vital thing today is communicating what you have to say plainly. Not everyone possesses your way with words. Make sure they get you.

♏ Scorpio

Oct. 24 - Nov. 22

You may be convinced that your way of doing things is best but you still need to explain and justify your actions to partners and co-workers if you want to get important things done.

♐ Sagittarius

Nov. 23 - Dec. 21

So many things have changed in your life of late that you could do with a few days when they stay just as they are. And that's what is likely to happen as Saturn slows everything down.

♑ Capricorn

Dec. 22 - Jan. 20

Join forces with people who share your concerns, then decide what you can do to make the world a better place. You need to realize though that lasting change takes time.

♒ Aquarius

Jan. 21 - Feb. 19

You have powerful friends but are reluctant to ask them for help. Maybe it's because you don't want to waste trump cards on minor problems.

♓ Pisces

Feb. 20 - March 20

You may not be interested what someone is trying to tell you but if you are smart you will listen and nod your head wisely at the appropriate moments.
